

Social participation program principles: Synthesizing evidence regarding programs and services for young people with disabilities

Gillian King, Eric Smart, Laura Bowman, and Madhu Pinto (presenting)

Background	Social participation is about relationships and friendships
Topic	Social participation programs and services that help young people with disabilities
Method	An umbrella review (a review of review articles)
Years Covered	2010 - 2021
Records Viewed	6147
Articles Retrieved	170
Articles Reviewed	5
Principles Proposed	3

Three principles for social participation programs and services:

Personalize

Match the program or service to the child/family

Contextualize

Make the program or service usable in the real world

Immerse

Have the program or service include time spent with others

